

On the State of Japanese Horror:

Book Reading with Prof. Steven Brown

FRIDAY, APRIL 27

1 - 2 P.M.

WILSON LIBRARY 164F

Japanese Horror and the Transnational Cinema of Sensations undertakes a critical reassessment of Japanese horror cinema by attending to its intermediality and transnational hybridity in relation to world horror cinema. Neither a conventional film history nor a thematic survey of Japanese horror cinema, this study offers a transnational analysis of selected films from new angles that shed light on previously ignored aspects of the genre, including sound design, framing techniques, and lighting, as well as the slow attack and long release times of J-horror's slow-burn style, which have contributed significantly to the development of its dread-filled cinema of sensations.

Steven T. Brown is Professor of Japanese Film, Transnational Cinema, and Sound Studies in the Department of Comparative Literature at the University of Oregon, USA. He is author of Japanese Horror and the Transnational Cinema of Sensations (2018), Tokyo Cyberpunk: Posthumanism in Japanese Visual Culture (2010), and Theatricalities of Power: The Cultural Politics of Noh (2001), editor of Cinema Anime: Critical Engagements with Japanese Animation (2006), and co-editor of Performing Japanese Women (2002).
